

HÖTZYWOOD

THE WALK OF FAME

Erika and Helmut Simon
Nuremberg couple who discovered Ötzi

Rainer Henn
Forensic pathologist who led the recovery of Ötzi

Konrad Spindler
Archaeologist who first recognized the importance of Ötzi

Lorenzo Dal Ri
Former Director of the South Tyrol Office of Archaeological Heritage

Luis Durnwalder
Former governor of the Autonomous Province of South Tyrol

Annalisa Pedrotti
Archaeologist of the University of Trento

Markus Egg
Responsible for the restoration of Ötzi's equipment

Angelika Fleckinger
Director of the South Tyrol Museum of Archaeology

Eduard Egarter Vigl
Pathologist, formerly charged with the conservation of Ötzi

Irene Hager von Strobele
Pioneer in museum education from day one

Albert Zink
Director of the Institute for Mummy Studies, Eurac Research

Paul Gostner
Radiologist who discovered that Ötzi had been murdered

Harm Paulsen
Experimental archaeologist who rebuilt Ötzi's objects

Oliver Peschel
Forensic pathologist, responsible for Ötzi's conservation

Paola Morbini
Guide at the Museum of Archaeology since its opening 1998

Andreas Putzer
Archaeologist and Ötzi exhibition curator

Katharina Hersel
Public relations for the South Tyrol Museum of Archaeology

Karl Wendel
Journalist who invented the nickname "Ötzi"

Patrizia Pernter
Radiologist who discovered Ötzi's coronary disease

Richter Family
Five millionth visitor to the South Tyrol Museum of Archaeology

Gilberto Artioli
Professor who studied Ötzi's axe

Catrin Marzoli
Director of the South Tyrol Office of Archaeological Heritage